

APPLIED THEATER FOR HEALTH CERTIFICATE

The Applied Theater for Health certificate introduces the history and practice in the field and explores utilizing and facilitating theatre for education, social change, and health. These special skills can serve as a credential for developing post-baccalaureate educational pathways and career options. Students interested in working in education, theatre, journalism, mental health counseling, social justice, community non-profits, women's studies, and health care settings will find this certificate valuable to their career paths.
