The Department of Journalism consistently ranks among the best journalism programs in the country. It is housed in a college professionally accredited by the Accrediting Council for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication. The department’s mission is to teach the art and craft of journalism and to foster an appreciation for accuracy, fairness, truth, and diversity.

About this Program
- College: Journalism and Communications
- Degree: Bachelor of Science in Journalism
- Credits for Degree: 124
- Specializations: Journalism | Sports and Media
- Additional Information
  - Contact: Email; 352.392.0500; 2070 Weimer Hall
  - Related Journalism Programs

To graduate with this major, students must complete all university, college, and major requirements.

The courses enable students to develop their storytelling talent - in words or visuals - and prepare them for careers in all kinds of media professions, including as writers, photographers, editor designers, multimedia storytellers, and more. The flexible curriculum allows students to work in all kinds of traditional and new media platforms. Excellent writing skills are essential. Graduates of the program work with major journalism and media companies and have won prolific honors, including the Pulitzer Prize.

In this curriculum, core courses offer students foundational skills and professional electives and capstones allow students to develop strengths and specialization in one or more areas.

Equipment Requirement

All students who major in journalism are required to own a Mac laptop computer with the appropriate software, a digital audio recorder and a digital camera.

Related Journalism Programs
- Combined Degree

Before Graduating Students Must
- Complete requirements for the baccalaureate degree, as determined by faculty.

Students in the Major Will Learn to

Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs)

Content
1. Identify how to avoid libel, invasion of privacy and copyright infringement, and describe the meaning of the First Amendment.

Critical Thinking
2. Publish a timely enterprise story with multimedia of sufficient quality to be published with relatively minor editing.
3. Correctly calculate and interpret numbers commonly used by journalists.

Communication
4. Pitch a distinctive local story of any genre (news, feature, sports, etc.) relevant to the audience using multimedia (text plus photo and either audio or video).

Curriculum Map

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Courses</th>
<th>SLO 1</th>
<th>SLO 2</th>
<th>SLO 3</th>
<th>SLO 4</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>JOU 3101</td>
<td>R</td>
<td>R</td>
<td>R</td>
<td>R</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JOU 3109C</td>
<td>I</td>
<td>I</td>
<td>I</td>
<td>I</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JOU 4200</td>
<td>A</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JOU 4201</td>
<td>A</td>
<td>A</td>
<td>A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Assessment Types
- Lab assignments
- Exams

Academic Learning Compact

The major in journalism prepares students for a career in media industries, with emphases on storytelling and various forms of responsible communication on multiple platforms. Students will develop an understanding of concepts and theories in courses about journalistic principles. Students will learn to gather information and to think critically, creatively, and independently as multimedia storyteller in skills courses that begin at a basic level and build to advanced courses where everything she or he has learned is applied to the production of fully realized works of journalism. Clear and direct writing is essential for every student in the program.